An aerial photograph of a homestay complex nestled in a lush green landscape. The complex consists of four dark wooden buildings with steep, grey-tiled roofs and large windows. They are arranged around a central circular lawn area. A large, vibrant orange tree stands prominently near the center. To the left, a calm body of water is visible, with a small wooden dock extending into it. The surrounding area is filled with dense tropical vegetation and trees. The overall scene is peaceful and scenic.
